

DON'T MISS OUT

Consider staying fully invested in stock funds.

Staying invested during market turbulence is not always easy. Predicting the best time to get in or out of the stock market is nearly impossible. As demonstrated in the hypothetical investment of $10,000 below, over a 25-year period, trying to time the market and missing the 50 best days as a result would have cut an investor's portfolio by more than $125,000! Staying in the market even on the "worst days" and riding out the inevitable dips enables investors to be fully present for all upswings, whenever they occur.
